PESSIMISM GOT ANOTHER BOOST ON THE MARKETS

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—Small fluctuations in stocks today gave no indication of the trend of speculative sentiment. The most obvious thing was the absence of absorptive power.

Trading was unusually light. The customary week end covering in the late session caused a slight upturn. General disposition is to await developments of the next few days.

Damage to the corn crop in the southwest was reflected in Atchafalaya September settlement, which showed a decrease in net earnings of $241,000. Northwestern net fell off $105,000, while N. P. made gain of $229,000.

The bank statement showed a cash loss of $1,767,000 instead of a predicted gain. Sterling exchange fell to a new low point for the year.

Bonds were steady. Total sales $685,000.

NOTES INFLUENCING THE DAY

(By Levy Bros.)
The census bureau cotton ginning report shows 80,900 more bales ginned than last year.

The senate and the currency committee strongly favor Vandenberg's currency plan.

Reports show that the business situation continues fairly satisfactory although evidences of reactionary tendency are manifested in certain branches.

The Rio Tinto strike situation reported most serious and about two million dollars lost.

Chairman Glass calls Vandenberg's currency bill; paraphrase of administration measure.

PAINE-WEBBER LETTER

(Received by L. J. Overlock)

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—There was no news to effect the market today and speculation is at low ebb. The fundamental trouble which governs the market more than any other factor is the world wide scarcity of money. Almost all nations are struggling with the same problem, tight money. Industrial expansion of the past few years has been so great that it has practically used up the supply of liquid capital. Whether the situation will be changed by liquidation or by new currency plans in the different countries remains to be seen but in the meantime it is unreasonable to expect any prolonged advance in stocks. Total sales New York 75,600. Money 23.4%. Metal 16.7-8 to 17.

A Marvellous Escape

"My little boy had a marvelous escape," writes P. F. Bastians of Prince Albert Cape of Good Hope. "It occurred in the middle of the night. He got a very severe attack of cramp. As luck would have it, I had a large bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. After following the directions for an hour and twenty minutes he was through all danger." Sold by all dealers.

TO REVOKE BAD CLAIMS RULING

U. S. Commissioner J. D. Taylor has received a letter from Washington attorneys prominent in mining patenting work suggesting that opportunity affords for these legitimately engaged in endeavor to develop and acquire mining properties, to put in a word at the present time in aid of reforms which the Interior Department is favorably inclined to. The letter follows:

Jared D. Taylor, Com.

Bisbee, Ariz.

Dear Sir:
Feeling that the new administration might be disposed to revoke the unwarranted rule which has been in force for the past few years, postponing the issuance of final certificate of entry until investigation and report by the Field Service, we recently took the matter up with the General Land Office and have succeeded in having it placed before the Secretary of the Interior with favorable recommendation by the commission.

As you know, the operation of the existing practice works a hardship upon mineral claimants, especially in view of the unsettled question as to whether, after final proof and payment the mineral claimant is relieved from annual assessment work, and in order to protect himself against relocation, annual assessment work is requisite until the actual issuance of the register's final certificate.

To remove the doubt it is to the interest of the miners and mining communities that the secretary should act favorably at this time, and if you can render any assistance we would be glad to have you do so, as it may aid you in some of your mining cases now pending.

Very truly yours,

Clark, Prentiss & Clark.

GOOD REPORTS FROM EXTENSION PROPERTY

Word was received from J. J. Hill superintendent of the Commonwealth Mining Co. at Pearce, by John S. Williams is to the effect that work in the tunnel is progressing at the rate of about 7 feet per day. He has encountered higher grade ore and expects to strike the main body in the course of a few more days.

Early next week another meeting of the Bisbee syndicate will be called to transact the regular monthly routine business and audit the bills for the past month. So far the work done at the mine has been at a comparatively low cost, and the stockholders are greatly pleased with the results obtained and the showing secured. An extension of time was granted by the parent company last month and before this time expires the syndicate expects to strike the main vein of ore, which they believe extends from the old Commonwealth property.

NEW FLOORING MAKES CLAIMS TO ADVANTAGES

Last week the Legal Tender of Lowell added another feature to the appearance to their place, when they put down an Acme sanitary floor covering. It not only makes a very handsome appearance but is sanitary.

Acme flooring is a new product, and the Legal Tender has the distinction of being the first house in the district to use it. E. L. Thun, of El Paso, introduced it and will make his home in the district, having obtained the state rights for the sale of the flooring.

It is a paste-like substance and is spread on the floor in about the same manner as plaster is on lath. It takes very little time to dry and then is one of the most serviceable that can be laid, as it will not crack and is chipless, seamless, waterproof and jointless.

The colors laid in the Legal Tender are ochre, red and brown and make a very harmonious combination. The color of the flooring, however, is a mirror affair as it can be made to suit any wish.

ARKANSAN SELLS SIXTY-ACRE TOWN

Connolly Harrington.

Connolly Harrington, banker of Sloom Springs, Ark., who started life as a journeyman printer, recently sold the sixty-acre village of Felker, Ark., to a Kansas City concern. When the new town of Felker was created some years ago, Harrington was a minor stockholder; of he hoarded his money and put it into Felker townsite lots. Finally he got all the town sites. Since then the village has grown and flourished.

COL. POWELL MAY BE BURIED EAST

Family Conference Will Determine — Learned That He Was in New York Closing Details of Big Oil Deal

No further details were learned yesterday with regard to arrangements of the family for the funeral of Col. L. W. Powell, who died suddenly on Friday in New York.

His sons are now enroute to join their mother and until the stricken family has conference arrangements for interment of the body will not be made.

It is possible that burial will be at his birthplace, in Virginia, where in the last few years he had visited frequently and where it is understood that he has recently had the development of mineral resources under consideration.

It was learned yesterday that the chief mission of Col. Powell in New York on the visit which terminated in his death was with reference to valuable oil land concessions in Mexico which he for some time had been engaged in acquiring for Duluth interests with which he had long been associated. It is understood that the transaction, a very large one, was practically closed and that he expected on the recent visit east to conclude the final details.

BIG CROWDS ON THE STREETS LAST NIGHT

Despite a chilly breeze, the streets of the city were thronged last night with the biggest crowds of the year. Everybody was out, apparently. Moose hall was thronged until after midnight, the stores did a rushing business during the early hours of the evening and the theaters were well filled.

The street railway carried more people than on any night since the Fourth of July celebration, and with

The 1913 Mining Edition

Deals comprehensively and conservatively with the mining industry in Arizona, with particular attention to the Copper producers. It will be a valuable addition to every Arizona library and to the library of every person interested in mining, wherever he may be.

It is the only Mining publication ever issued in Arizona containing accounts of all its great producing and dividend paying properties and entering into intimate relation with their histories.

IT CARRIES A LARGER presentation of accurate facts and figures concerning Arizona mines than previously enclosed under a single cover in any publication, newspaper, state or national.

IT IS THE BIGGEST BOOST, in its accurate presentation of facts, records of dividends paid, records of production, present and past, value of properties as found on the tax rolls, etc., that has ever been made available for Arizona.

There is also a section given to Sonora mining which covers the industry in that rich mineral division more thoroughly than any previous publication.

Cochise County Mineral and Agricultural

Resources are gone into in detail. Its cities and towns are told of in a careful manner and its agricultural lands and water resources described in a painstaking, accurate manner.

Copies of the 1913 Mining Edition of The Review

May be obtained from all news stands, agents, and from The Review office, Price 25 cents.

with Forest at the time of the accident, was reported much better yesterday and although not yet out of danger from possible complications is expected to get well. Yesterday afternoon Deputy Sheriff Billy Graham, of Lowell, made a search in the road at the scene of the accident and succeeded in finding a large diamond stick pin worn by Forest at the time of the accident. The stone is a fine one. Jewelers yesterday put value of $250 on it. Mr. Graham recovered the stone only after diligent and patient search. It was found buried in a heap of dirt, which Graham was poking about when the stone flashed in the sunlight. It will be sent to El Paso to enter the possessions left by Forest.
